

New York City
Food Policy Center
AT HUNTER COLLEGE

ROOSEVELT HOUSE
PUBLIC POLICY INSTITUTE
AT HUNTER COLLEGE

Fall 2013 Food Policy for Breakfast Seminar Series

The History and Politics of the SNAP Program: Learning from the Past to Preserve SNAP for the Future

Major changes and cuts to the SNAP program have led to a near-crisis for our most vulnerable populations. Janet Poppendieck, Policy Director at the NYC Food Policy Center at Hunter College, leads a discussion focusing on the previous cycles of changes to the SNAP program and what we can learn moving forward.

Panelists:

Janet Poppendieck, PhD, Professor Emerita, Sociology at Hunter College, and Policy Director, NYC Food Policy Center at Hunter College

Triada Stampas, Senior Director of Government Relations, Food Bank for New York City

Maggie Dickinson, PhD Candidate, CUNY Graduate Center, Department of Anthropology

Moderated by Janet Poppendieck, PhD, Professor Emerita, Sociology at Hunter College, and Policy Director, NYC Food Policy Center at Hunter College

Food Policy Seminars are free but seating is limited; please RSVP in advance.
Events are closed when seats are filled.

Tuesday, November 19, 8:30 – 10 AM*

The Roosevelt House Public Policy Institute at Hunter College

47-49 East 65th Street between Madison and Park

RSVP <http://bit.ly/17klXhh>

*Due to increased attendance, breakfasts have been moved to the auditorium.
Please arrive in advance of programming to enjoy breakfast, as there is no food or drink allowed in this space.

New York City Food Policy Center at Hunter College 2180 Third Avenue New York, NY 10035
212-396-7744 www.nycfoodpolicy.org